1. The 1 Labor Company which is located on the Yugoslav border with Italy is under the jurisdiction of the 64 Battalion. The commander of the Company is Lt. Srecko Zelic, and the assistant commander is Second Lt. Fazlija Paranis. Sergeant Major Mile Vukovic is the Adjutant. Ivan Kostov, and a certain Djuric are platoon commanders. The Company does not have armament. The only exception to this are the guards who are armed. The reason for this is that the Company constitutes numerous unreliable members. The morale of the men is reportedly poor, and they are alleged to have once gone on strike as a result of the bad food. Upon that occasion, eight men were tried by a military tribunal.
2. The headquarters of the 64 Battalion is at Tolmin. Major Marinko Delic is commander of the Battalion, and his assistant is Captain Calic. Captain Simo Buncic is the political commissar. Second Lt. Saric is Communist Party Representative to the Battalion. His duties are connected solely with Communist Party work, and he proposes the candidates for membership in the Party.
3. The chief of the KOS services in Tolmin is a Lt. Kocijan. His assistant is a Second Lt. Kostusic. Agents frequently arriving from [redacted] the border are received by these two men.
4. The 7 Border Company which has headquarters at Kombresko is commanded by a Captain Mile. The political commissar is a Captain Zetezalo. The 7 Border Company is in charge of check points which are located at Kombresko, Podbreg, Kostanjevica, Britof, Podinscek, Budigoj, Golo Brdo Neblo, and Vrhovlje. All check points are equipped with one or two Skoda machine guns, six to seven Soviet automatic weapons, twelve rifles, and ten hand grenades for each soldier.
